

SOCIAL SCIENTISTS: HOW TO COMPETE FOR SOCIAL SCIENCE RESEARCH AT NSF, NIH, AND FOUNDATIONS

1:00 pm - 3:00 pm | Monday, September 23, 2024

VIA ZOOM

Workshop for social scientists on how to identify and understand which programs within NSF and NIH fund social sciences, what reviewers are typically looking for, and common mistakes to avoid. The webinar will also cover how to identify private foundations that may be interested in funding your social science research.

Presented by: Lucy Deckard, Academic Research Funding Strategies

Consultant Lucy Deckard established Academic Research Funding Strategies, LLC in 2010. She has helped to develop successful proposals to NSF, NIH, the Department of Education, the Department of Defense, and other agencies and foundations, including proposals for large institutional and center-level grants.

REGISTRATION IS REQUIRED:

<https://tinyurl.com/FDSEP23REG>

UTSA
Research

Brought to you by Faculty Development