Hands-on work session and review for researchers working on specific proposals. We will provide information and advice based on the funders of interest to participants. This session will be a follow-up to the Grantsmanship 101 session (which participants either attended in person or watched online). In this session, participants will work on their proposal sections and discuss them with colleagues.

Presented by: Lucy Deckard, Academic Research Funding Strategies

Consultant Lucy Deckard established Academic Research Funding Strategies, LLC in 2010. She has helped to develop successful proposals to NSF, NIH, the Department of Education, the Department of Defense, and other agencies and foundations, including proposals for large institutional and center-level grants.
